Briefly

Rummage sales

Prather Elementary School holds several rummage sales throughout the year to support the school's Shoe Fund. The Fund purchases coats, gloves, hats and shoes for students at Prather who need them. Anyone in the community can donate items at any time. Items being donated can be dropped off at the PTA office at Prather.

Fish fry, crafts

Icelandic cod will be featured at a fish fry and Christmas craft show Friday at Holy Family Catholic Church, 2600 Washington Ave.

DARE craft fair

A craft fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the Granite City Township Hall, 2600 Delmar Ave. Proceeds will go to DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education).

Ham, bean dinner

A hand and bean dinner is planned for 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday at Word of Life Tabernacle, 12th Street and Edwardsville Road.

Tip of the hat

Ali Dumoulin of Granite City was recently awarded a variety letter for her role as a member of the Illinois College Lady Blues soccer team. Dumoulin, a sophomore majoring in cytotechnology, served as a goalkeeper. The Lady Blues, in their first year of competition, compiled a 1-13 record, but head coach David Isham said that with 16 underclassmen he is optimistic that next year will be better. Dumoulin is a graduate of Granite City High School and is the daughter of Carol Allen of Granite City.

Local veteran, 97, recalls the 'war to end all wars'

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Area Veterans' organizations have looked for others, but Abner O.D. Branding is apparently one of a kind. Branding is a veteran of World War I and says, "It looks like I'm the last one left in the area."

The 97-year-old resident of the Colonial Care Center in Granite City was born April 2, 1895, "just a couple of miles north of here on what was then a farm."

Except for about three years when he lived with a daughter in St. Louis, Branding has spent his entire life in the Granite City area.

When Branding went into the Army in June 1918, he said, there were a lot of Americans who believed the Europeans should have been left to solve their own problems.

"I think the average people figured we shouldn't get involved in a war in Europe," Branding said. "But rural people, farm boys like me, didn't give it too much thought, I guess."

Branding was assigned to a heavy-artillery unit in Fort Taylor, Ky. (See VETERAN, Page 13A)

Firm denies 'pyramid' operation

A financial planning firm under scrutiny by the Illinois Attorney General's Office is getting a raw deal, an attorney for the company charged.

Thayer Lindauer, a California-based attorney specializing in marketing regulations, said DebtFree America Inc. is a legitimate company offering financial planning tips and other services to customers, despite suspicions by Assistant Attorney General Dennis Orsey that the firm may be running a sophisticated pyramid scheme.

"It sure as hell isn't a pyramid scheme and the company has gone to great lengths to spell that out. If Orsey thinks this is a pyramid scheme, he knows how to shut it down," Lindauer said.

Orsey said he will wait until after a scheduled meeting with DebtFree America officials this month before deciding whether to pursue legal action.

Orsey first voiced his concerns over the company's marketing tactics in April when representatives of the firm began holding seminars in the Metro East touting the company's "matrix system" of compensating participants in the program.

Under the matrix system advertised at the time, participants would join for a fee, then collect a commission for every additional member they signed up.

Orsey said the system appeared to be a sophisticated pyramid scheme, which is illegal in Illinois, though he added he wanted to investigate further to (See PYRAMID, Page 2A)

Hate crime review sought

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris has joined attorneys general from 29 states in seeking a U.S. Supreme Court review of decisions overturning hate crime laws in Wisconsin and Ohio.

Some portions of Illinois' hate crime law are similar to the overturned laws, which provided for extra penalties when crimes were based on discrimination.

"If the U.S. Supreme Court upholds the actions taken by the courts in Wisconsin and Ohio, then the status of our law and those in other states comes into question," Burris said in a press release. "We are urging the U.S. Supreme Court to grant the petitions of Wisconsin and Ohio and to reverse the supreme courts of those states."

The 30 attorneys general jointly filed a friend of the court brief with the Supreme Court. Burris said enhanced penalties are justified because hate crime assaults are often more lethal than other attacks and often cause more psychological harm to the victims.

2 killed in crash of car and train

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

When playing the dangerous game of "beat the train," a tie is as bad as a loss.

Two Metro East area residents were killed Sunday night when the car they were in crossed the West Pontoon Road railroad tracks in front of a northbound train, but was then hit by a second train coming from the opposite direction.

Michael Watson, 46, of the 2100 block of North 56th Street in Washington Park, and Anita Louise White, 27, of the Thomas Terry apartments in Brooklyn were killed instantly at 5:28 p.m. Sunday when the gold 1978 Buick LeSabre in which they were riding was struck by a southbound Norfolk & Southern railway freight train at the West Pontoon Road crossing.

Witnesses said Watson was driving east on West Pontoon Road, went around the activated crossing gate, and beat a northbound Burlington train across the second of four sets of tracks at the crossing. But a southbound train on the third set of tracks hit the driver's side of the car, killing both Watson and White.

A witness estimated the Norfolk & Southern train's speed at 35 miles per hour. The auto came to a rest against a railroad utility shed more than 70 feet away from the point of impact, according to a police report.

'I'd rather drivers complain (about a ticket) than have to pick them up like this.'

— Don Knight
Police chief

Police Chief Don Knight said Watson was apparently trying to beat the first train through the crossing, but didn't see the second train.

He said it is a rare occasion when two trains, coming on different tracks from opposite directions, converge at a railroad crossing at the same time.

But, Knight said, the incident illustrates the dangers of disobeying railroad crossing traffic control signals.

He said the public has complained in the past when the department has issued tickets to those who drive around crossing gates, but as a result of Sunday's incident, he is instructing his officers to be even more strict in issuing such citations.

"I'd rather drivers complain (about the ticket) than have to pick them up like this," Knight said.

Witnesses said the gates were down and all signals were working when the car crossed the tracks.

Astorian seeing police work from different side

Bob Astorian misses the day-to-day excitement of police work, but his present job as Madison County's top probation officer does not lack challenges.

Astorian, 54, was appointed the county's director of probation and court services in 1989 after a 22-year career with the Granite City Police Department that included six years as chief of detectives, five years as assistant police chief and almost a year as police chief.

Astorian, a lifelong Granite City resident, said becoming a police officer fulfilled a childhood ambition and he "enjoyed every minute of it," especially the early years as a patrolman.

"I couldn't wait to go to work as a patrolman," he said. "It was just a close-knit group of people working together, trying to protect each other and protect the citizens."

Detective work was challenging, too, he said.

"It's just intriguing to try to solve a riddle, and a crime to me was always a riddle."

Another ambition of Astorian's was to be sheriff of Madison County. A try for the office came up short when he finished a close second in now-Sheriff Bob Churchich in the 1986 Democratic primary.

The appointment to the probation department post came two years later.

"In some ways, it's completely different," Astorian said. "You deal with the

Fired building aide arrested at school

A recently-fired building aide at Maryville School was arrested Friday afternoon after being barred from school property.

Sandra K. Ussery of Granite City was arrested at 2:14 p.m. and charged with criminal trespass to state-supported property. She was released after paying $107 bail.

Ussery, who was dismissed Oct. 24 by the Granite City School Board, had been notified by certified letter that she was barred from school property except in cases approved in advance by the administration.

According to police reports, Ussery on Friday was told by Principal Pat Gonwa to leave the school building and Ussery refused until Gonwa called police. At that time, Gonwa said, Ussery did leave the building but not school property.

Ussery said she was at the school to pick up her child and four other children from school. Ussery denied entering the building on Friday and said she was waiting outside a door.

School superintendent Steve Balen said Ussery had been at Maryville School almost every day since her dismissal "for one reason or another," sometimes as many as four times a day. He said her visits appeared to be "an attempt to harass the principal and to get publicity in your newspaper." He said one of the previous visits had included an attempt by Ussery to videotape a classroom confrontation.

Ussery said all of her visits were for "valid reasons" and, although she admitted a personal conflict with Gonwa, said the school administration was

Police log

Granite City

DUI charged

Debra K. Weed, 29, of the 3200 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested at 8:35 p.m. Nov. 8 for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Police reported seeing a white 1982 Chevrolet station wagon speeding on Madison Avenue at 24th Street. Weed, the driver, took three field sobriety tests, refused to take a breath analysis test and was charged.

Arrested after disturbance

Craig S. Towery, 23, of the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard, was arrested at 2:44 a.m. Nov. 8 for aggravated assault and resisting a peace officer.

John M. Bryson, 22, of the 3000 block of East 23rd Street was charged with domestic battery in relation to the same incident.

Bryson's wife, Darla, told police he banged her head against a door and punched her in the face.

Towery allegedly struggled with officers responding to the scene and brandished a knife, according to a police report.

Alleged speeder charged

Danny H. Cobb Sr., 42, of the 1900 block of Grand Avenue, was arrested at 10:38 p.m. Nov. 7 for speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Police reported seeing a 1984 Buick Skyhawk traveling 45 miles per hour in a 30 mph zone in the 1100 block of Niedringhaus Avenue.

Cobb, the driver, took three field sobriety tests and a breath analysis test and was charged.

Resisting alleged

Stanley R. Hargrove, 28, of the 4000 block of Brienne Avenue, was arrested at 10:47 a.m. Nov. 7 for resisting a peace officer and driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer stopped a green 1979 Chevrolet Berlietta in the 300 block of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Hargrove, the driver, allegedly pulled away from an officer and fled on foot.

He was later apprehended in the 900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, according to a police report.

Cahokia man charged with rape

A 26-year-old Cahokia man was charged Monday with raping a 45-year-old Granite City woman earlier in the day.

Shawn Ray Pennington, of the 1000 block of St. Margaret in Cahokia, was charged with criminal sexual assault in a warrant issued Monday. He was being held in Granite City Jail on $150,000 bond.

Police were alerted to the incident by a 911 call and upon arrival at the woman's home at 1:41 a.m. officers found her running from the house naked and screaming. "He's trying to rape me," according to a police report.

Pennington was arrested in the house without incident. The victim told police she walked with Pennington from St. Elizabeth Medical Center to KirkTrip, and then to her home. She said Pennington made her remove her clothes, forced her to remove her clothes and to have oral sex.

Authorities said Pennington was convicted of a similar charge in 1989 in Cahokia involving a different woman.

Police course suit dismissed

By Jim Haverstick

Staff writer

A St. Clair County associate judge has dismissed a suit against Belleville Area College to reinstate a student who had been asked to resign from the school's police academy over weapons policy violations.

Edward Williams of East Carondelet had filed a restraining order and injunction in order to be reinstated to the Law Enforcement Training Course No. 50. He also asked that the instructor be prevented from dismissing him from the class and another instructor be assigned to evaluate his performance.

Associate Judge James Radcliffe dissolved a temporary restraining order that would have allowed Williams to return to class. The order was issued Oct. 22 by Chief Judge Stephen Kernan.

According to court documents, Police Academy Dean Clay Baitman, who was teaching the course, asked Williams to withdraw from the class Oct. 15 and was denied permission by Baitman.

Radcliffe's ruling stated that the temporary restraining order should not have been entered.

He also dismissed the complaints for the injunction and reinstatement.

"I think the academy was right in what they did and we proved it," said Patrick Young, attorney for BAC.

Statements from Belleville Area College officials say Williams violated the tardiness policy and failed to turn in an assignment also.

Another reason he was not reinstated was that he failed to set up a hearing with three department representatives to be reinstated.

Williams' attorney John Malec of St. Louis did not return repeated telephone calls from the Journal.

Couple facing charges in Columbia robbery

By Jim Merkel

Staff writer

A couple from Granite City are awaiting court action on charges from a strong-armed robbery at the Southwoods Shell convenience store on Illinois 3 in Columbia early on the morning of Oct. 29, authorities say.

Columbia police issued warrants charging John P. and Shannon K. Moore with three counts of robbery each in connection with the incident. Monroe County State's Attorney Dennis Doyle said.

In that robbery, three female employees were physically attacked and a sum of money was stolen from a cash register. Acting Columbia Police Chief Gene Henckler said.

John Moore, 27, is being held on $30,000 bail in Randolph County Jail, after he was arrested Oct. 31 on charges he tried to break into three vehicles in Prairie Du Rocher around 8:30 p.m.

Randolph County State's Attorney Darrell Williamson said. In two cases, Moore tried to get into occupied vehicles that sped away, and in a third case he actually got into an unoccupied vehicle, Williamson said.

Meanwhile, Shannon Moore was before Monroe County Judge Dennis Jacobson on the same robbery charges and confined to Monroe County Jail on $100,000 bail, Doyle said. She has been released on $20,000 bail.

A preliminary hearing for her has been set for 10 a.m. Nov. 19.

before Jacobson.

The warrant against John Moore in Monroe County sets his bail at $100,000. All the robbery charges against both of the Moores are Class II felonies, which carry potential sentences of three to seven years per charge.

The Moores are charged with robbing Gwendolyn Snow, Pat Middleton and Cindy Baumann at the Southwoods Shell at 12:15 a.m. Oct. 29, Doyle said.

"They were punched around, bruised up," said Henckler, who would not provide details of the incident.

However, Henckler emphasized that the business, like others open late at night in Columbia, has little money on hand. He said he's discussed the importance of this with managers of late-night businesses since the incident.

In the Prairie Du Rocher incident, John Moore is charged with two counts of attempted vehicular invasion and one count of burglary, Class II felonies; and one count of attempted escape, a misdemeanor, Williamson said.

The attempted escape charge was made after he allegedly tried to crawl out of a Prairie Du Rocher police car following his arrest, Williamson said.

He faces a preliminary hearing in Randolph County Court on Nov. 13 before Judge Jerry Flynn, Williamson said.

Society offers free kits for Smokeout

Smokers in Granite City, Venice, Madison, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell can get a free "Quit Kit" from the Quad Cities Chapter of the American Cancer Society for the Great American Smokeout on Nov. 19.

The kit contains tips on how to quit smoking, how to avoid weight gain and how to quit over the holidays. It provides information about groups and clinics in the area. To order a kit, persons should call 1-800-ACS-2345.

"Some 38 million Americans have successfully quit smoking and so can you," said Barb Mahesh, chairman of the unit. The Great American Smokeout is the perfect opportunity to join the fight."

St. Elizabeth Medical Center, all local schools and a number of local banks, libraries and other businesses will join similar institutions across Illinois in the 16th Great American Smokeout.

The event, held annually on the Thursday before Thanksgiving, is designed to provide smokers with the opportunity to kick the habit for a day with the help of their families, friends and co-workers.

Pyramid

determine whether legal action was warranted. Lindauer, however, said the system has since been structured so that participants are not required to pay a fee to begin signing up other subscribers.

In addition, the company has legitimate services for sale, Lindauer said. Illinois law defines pyramid schemes as arrangements where fees are paid but no goods or services change hands. Participants are reimbursed for signing up additional members in such schemes.

"We have individuals marketing for the company and getting a commission, but they don't have to pay a fee to become a marketer. If they did, then there might be room for concern that some thing improper is going on, but that is not the case here," Lindauer said in a phone interview Friday.

Company officials met with Orsey in mid-April and agreed to halt the seminars until literature detailing the firm's offerings was printed.

Lindauer maintains the literature was sent to Orsey and the attorney general's main office in Springfield as soon as it became available in early September. That should have cleared up any of the attorney general's concerns, he said.

Orsey, however, has said neither he nor officials in Springfield ever received anything from the company.

Late last month, Orsey issued a subpoena ordering J. Lloyd Tomer, the treasurer of Debtfree America, to meet Nov. 17 in Springfield with Orsey and investigators from the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection.

Orsey said investigators would determine whether the operation is a pyramid scheme by studying the company's system of compensating and awarding bonuses to participants. Tomer has been ordered to bring the company's financial records to the Springfield meeting.

"I guess Mr. Lindauer will have an opportunity to state his case Nov. 17," Orsey said, adding that investigators at the Office of Consumer Protection are familiar with Lindauer and have dealt with him on numerous occasions.

"Lindauer represents dozens of similar operations across the country," Orsey said. It was not clear if any of Lindauer's other clients have been ordered to cease operations or had other legal difficulties in Illinois.

Lindauer said he also plans to attend the meeting and predicted Orsey's concerns would be answered.

"Springfield has a reputation for not messing around and they also have a reputation for being fair and thorough," Lindauer said. "Illinois in general is very good at rooting out pyramid schemes. So if this was one they would have taken action by now, that's for sure."

Lindauer's law license is limited to Arizona state and federal courts but he said that would not prevent him from properly representing Debtfree America in the Nov. 17 meeting.

County Board may tighten rules on payment for mileage

Madison County officials may be ready to put the brakes on some travel money for County Board members.

One week after Board Member Don Garrett, D-Madison, admitted he collected mileage reimbursements for non-existent meetings, the board's Finance Committee voted to tighten the rules regarding mileage reimbursement.

In the future, board members would only get mileage money for duly authorized meetings, said committee member Alan Dunstan, D-Troy.

Under existing rules, County Board members are reimbursed 25 cents per mile for government-related travel within Madison County.

However, under the committee proposal, which is expected to go before the full board later this month, board members no longer would be allowed to collect mileage for travel involving anything other than scheduled meetings, Dunstan said.

Garrett collected about $84 for travel to nine Legislative Committee meetings in September, even though the committee did not meet that month.

Garrett said he did it to make up for extra costs incurred while conducting county business on behalf of his constituents.

State's Attorney William Haine said Friday he would leave it up to the County Board to decide how to handle such cases.

"The auditor and I have talked it over, and I think the best thing to do is to refer it back to the County Board," Haine said. "There hasn't been any allegation that any crime has been committed."

Committee members must sign a notebook before every meeting to prove they were present. That notebook is turned over to the auditor's office at the end of each month to verify reimbursement claims.

Garrett conceded he signed the Legislative Committee book nine times in September even though there were no meetings.

What happened is some board members have been inartfully memorializing their trips to the County Building while on public business," Haine said. "Inartful means they didn't know how else to do it."

It was not clear if other board members also have collected mileage for meetings that never happened. Haine said he did not know if other board members were involved.

County Auditor Fred Bathon said he is still looking into the matter.

Under county rules, board members are entitled to mileage reimbursement for committee and full board meetings, in addition to seminars, conventions and other events related to county business.

The Finance Committee proposal would restrict mileage reimbursements to board and committee meetings only, Dunstan said.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, however, indicated the board also may be asked to consider a separate proposal that would allow members to continue collecting reimbursement for travel costs while on official business not related to meetings.

The board would have to devise a way of documenting those costs, Hagnauer said.

"I think there are some provisions in the board rules for travel but we want to make them more clear," Hagnauer said Friday.

Garrett collected a total of $146 for travel costs in September, about $94 of which was for the non-existent Legislative Committee meetings.

The remaining $52 appeared to be for meetings that actually took place. Garrett's hometown of Madison is about 20 miles from Edwardsville.

Daley campaigns for Chicago casino

SPRINGFIELD — Chicago Mayor Richard Daley is offering a $75 million carrot for school districts outside his city in an attempt to get more legislators to bet on a Windy City casino and entertainment complex.

Illinois Senate President Philip Rock revealed Thursday Daley's plan to allocate 75 percent of the proposed casino's estimated $100 million per year in gambling tax revenues to areas outside Chicago.

"It is my hope that could be used for the public school systems," Rock said.

Although Rock first said the $75 million would be earmarked for Downstate schools, he later said Chicago suburban areas also would share in the pot. However, under the state school aid formula, most state education money now goes to either the city of Chicago or Downstate.

Daley, the three firms proposing the $2 billion casino complex and other backers also are attempting to provide additional concessions for riverboat gambling and horse racing interests, Rock said, although he gave no specifics.

He said Daley's office will be meeting with the other legalized gambling interests in the next week to make proposals.

Rock made the comments after he and House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago, called a special session of the Legislature to consider the Chicago casino proposal. The session will run the same time as the regular fall session, primarily devoted to considering the governor's vetoes of bills passed in the spring.

Rock said the purpose of calling a special session was to focus on this economic proposal that is for the betterment of the state.

He said he anticipated a draft of the proposed legislation will be completed by Daley's office and provided to lawmakers next week. Rock said he expected to call the Senate into a committee of the whole Nov. 19 to hear testimony.

Lawmakers are scheduled to return into session from Nov. 17-19 and again from Dec. 1-3. Rock also pledged the bill would contain "the strictest regulations in the country" to meet concerns about the potential influence of criminal elements in the Chicago casinos.

Although Gov. Jim Edgar again this week repeated his strong opposition to Chicago land-based casinos and vowed to veto any bill that passes, Rock said, "I would hope to persuade him to reconsider."

Rock insisted the large number of lame-duck lawmakers who will be voting this fall was not a factor for pressing for passage now. He also denied the Republican takeover of the Senate in January was a motivation.

"This should be viewed as an economic development proposal irrespective of party or region," Rock added.

He said he was concerned the three firms proposing to build the complex would go someplace else if the Legislature fails to take action soon.

Rock said the bill to be unveiled next week will restrict land-based casinos in the state only to the city of Chicago.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, who said he still hasn't made up his mind on the Chicago casino plan, said it is unclear whether it will get the votes to pass.

As for Chicago's offer to share 75 percent of the gambling tax revenues with the rest of the state, Demuzio said it was "something worth looking at, but I would hate to argue its a panacea for education funding."

The additional revenue would be a relatively small amount compared to the $3 billion the state now spends on public schools.

East St. Louis casino backers say proposal would create jobs

By Peggy O'Farrell
Staff writer

Development of a land-based casino in East St. Louis turned into a high-stakes argument Thursday night as proponents and opponents of the site wrangled over the city's economic and spiritual future.

About 300 East St. Louis residents and city officials met at City Hall in a public hearing to discuss developing the proposed Pink Palm.

Members of the tribal council for the St. Croix Chippewa tribe of Wisconsin and their development firm, Buffalo Brothers Management Inc., outlined their plans to build a casino.

They estimated the casino would bring about $39 million into the city annually, with the city receiving $8 million to $10 million annually in new tax revenue.

Wyatt C. Frazer and George Galloway would act as the local management for the casino.

Backers of the proposal carried signs reading "We Need Jobs" into the packed council chambers, and several local contractors spoke up to ask that local firms get the job of building the casino, if it is approved. The majority of the crowd seemed to favor the proposal, as developers said the casino could bring an estimated 1,500 jobs into the community.

The Rev. Henry Nicholson's praise for the proposal met with cheers and applause as he pointed to the prospect of jobs for the community.

"Anybody who thinks I'm not in favor of this must be on some bad dope, or think I am," said Nicholson, a Baptist preacher.

He called for establishment of a gambling district, with vacant lots throughout the city zoned for casino development.

Other church leaders, however, spoke up against it.

The Rev. Buck Jones, director of Project HOPE, said he opposed the casino, asserting that gambling is "not a panacea. It will not resolve the morass of problems facing East St. Louis."

"It will not generate enough revenue to solve the critical problems facing this city," Jones and other church lead-

"We're talking about profit, but you have to look beyond the profits to see the human side of it."

— Rev. Buck Jones
Casino foe

ers said legalized gambling would contribute to child abuse and other social ills in the community.

They also said the proposal went against Christian teachings.

"We're talking about profit, but you have to look beyond the profits to see the human side of it," Jones said.

He also said legalized gambling is linked to organized crime.

A letter from the East St. Louis and Vicinity Ministerial Alliance calling gambling "a direct denial of Christian faith" was read. The statement said the proposal "blatantly oversteps the bounds" of Christian teaching.

That argument seemed to carry little weight, though. "We've got nothing to wager here. What are we gambling on?" said George Frazer.

"We need jobs. We have faith. We'll go to church. If we have some money, we'll put some money in the collection plate. Don't throw the Bible in our face. We've had that before.

"East St. Louis has plenty of churches. My house will burn down and the churches will still be there. We need jobs," he said.

Phil Cohn, owner of a real estate firm in East St. Louis, said he had received a proposal from "a premiere gambling group in Las Vegas" about building a complex of casinos and hotels in the city.

Roy Palmer, general counsel for Buffalo Brothers Management Inc., said the Aldermanic Council has not yet been submitted a written proposal because "we were waiting to see the reaction" from city residents.

The St. Croix tribe now operates three casinos and two bingo halls in Wisconsin.

Tribal chairman Donald Saros said the East St. Louis site would give the city "one of the most modern casinos in the country and one of the most profitable casinos in the country."

He said the riverboat casino now in the works for East St. Louis and others in development in Missouri would not jeopardize the success of a land-based casino.

"They enhance one another," Saros said.

"If you wonder what we want from you, we want you to tell these fine ladies and gentlemen that we want you to build East St. Louis. We want jobs. We want development. We want a land-based casino in East St. Louis," Palmer said.

"We want to do it. We know how to do it. And we have the money to do it."

138 new lawyers take oath

By Lisa Hill
Staff writer

The largest class of new attorneys in recent years was admitted to practice in Illinois in ceremonies in Collinsville on Thursday.

About 350 people gathered at the Gateway Center for the admissions program.

More than 2,000 candidates qualified statewide to be admitted to the bar that day: 1,323 in Chicago from the First Judicial District, 270 in Elgin from the Second Judicial District, 68 in Peoria from the Third District, 84 in Springfield from the Fourth District, and the 138 that took the oath here in the Fifth Judicial District.

"You are entering a unique profession," said Justice Richard P. Goldenhersh of the Fifth District Appellate Court in his address to the new attorneys. "It's an enjoyable way to live. You will meet great men and women. Welcome to a profession that can be enjoyed and give you a full way of life."

Goldenhersh urged the group to become actively involved in their new profession and to help alleviate problems lawyers face regularly.

"You must be aware of the problems of the legal profession and you must take part in dealing with them," he said.

He spoke briefly about maintaining respect for fellow attorneys and for the profession in general. He reminded the group that his profession is considered a public service and that strict ethics are admirable.

Fifth District Appellate Judge Charles W. Chapman made the motion to present the class for admission. Attorney James Parham of Belleville made the second motion. The candidates were asked to raise their right hand to take the oath, swearing to uphold the Illinois Constitution and the Constitution of the United States.

Chapman's son, Thomas William Chapman, and Parham's son, John Randolph Parham, were in the group taking the oath.

A reception was held immediately after the program.

Scouting For Food event to begin

More than 4,000 local members of the Trails West Council of the Boy Scouts of America will canvas the area during the next two weekends in support of the fourth annual Scouting for Food National Good Turn. Bags will be distributed on Saturday, Nov. 14, and collected on Saturday, Nov. 21.

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers will work this event, hoping to match or exceed last year's council collection total.

The Scouts want canned goods such as soup, beef stew, chili, canned meats and fish, canned vegetables, canned fruit, etc. They ask that you not include perishables, frozen, or in glass. Donors should place their bags of canned goods outside their front door by 9 a.m. on Nov. 21. Scouts will pick up the bags later that day. If there is a problem with collection, donors may call the council at 259-2145.

Seniors to meet

The Chouteau Township Seniors will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday for pot luck, entertainment and meeting. The turkey and dressing will be furnished, so please bring a pot luck dish or dessert large enough to serve six people.

"The real tragedy," said George Prestor, Scouting for Food chairman for Trails West Council, is that widespread hunger is completely preventable. When communities work together with programs like Scouting for Food, hunger can be eliminated.

Donated food is sorted and boxed and then supplied to appropriate agencies for distribution to the needy in the same communities in which it was collected. The four previous Scouting for Food Good Turns have brought in millions of cans of food throughout the country.

Nearly 2,000 attend memorial for 5 sisters killed in Liberia

By Liz Quirin
Correspondent

Almost 2,000 people from across the United States and around the world joined the Adorers of the Blood of Christ Thursday at a memorial service at St. Peter Cathedral to mourn the loss of five of their sisters killed in Liberia, West Africa. Pictures of the five nuns were placed in the sanctuary at the front of the church with a bouquet of white roses representing the innocent lives of the sisters.

A red cloth under the bouquet represented the blood that they shed on Liberian soil, said Sister Angela Schrago, ASC, provincial secretary in Ruma.

The five ASCs were:

Sisters Mary Jo Kolmer, 58, and Shirley Kolmer, 61, first cousins, both of Waterloo; Kathleen McGuire, 54 of Ridgway; Agnes Mueller, 62 of Bartlesville; and Barbara Ann Muttra, 69, of Springfield.

Bishop James P. Keleher was joined in the service by bishops from Springfield, Jefferson City, Mo., and Boston, Mass. Archbishop John L. May of St. Louis was also present at the Mass.

The five sisters were eulogized by Keleher, and administrators

(The deaths are a) tremendous loss to our province. Overnight we went from 246 members to 241."

— Sister Mildred Gross

from their communities, including Sister Giuseppina Fragasso, ASC, the superior general from Rome, and by family members as well.

Keleher said the five nuns were martyrs.

"May I suggest that the inspiring martyrdom of these five heroic women and that of their fellow aspirants (young women who express a desire to join the religious community), provides an example of Christlike love that will touch all human hearts so often closed by selfish preoccupation and material concerns," said Keleher.

Victor Weltig, stepbrother to Sister Jo Kolmer, ASC, talked at being able to serve in Liberia. "She'd probably say 'what's the big fuss about? I'm just there doing my job'."

Sister Elizabeth Kolmer, ASC, Sister Shirley Kolmer's natural

sister, spoke of the nun's "jolly spirit" and "she might say that getting here wasn't easy, but now let's celebrate."

While the family members remembered personal and poignant moments in their lives with the sisters, the administrators of the religious community looked at what the deaths meant to the people they touched.

"This small mission community of five is for us today the seed that will produce fruit; not only in the Liberian land but in all the church and in all of our congregation; a fruit of obligation for the sake of a new humanity," Fragasso said.

Sister Mildred Gross, ASC, provincial superior in Ruma, said the loss of five members of their religious community was a "tremendous loss to our province (area where they live and serve). Overnight we went from 246 members to 241."

Conference Thursday on sexual harassment

A live interactive teleconference, "Confronting Sexual Harassment on Campus," will be presented at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, in the University Center Hackberry Room at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Participation will be limited to 140 persons, but the teleconference will be taped and repeated at a later date for those unable to attend Nov. 12.

Various forms of sexual harassment, including student-to-student, faculty-to-student, supervisor-to-employee and colleague-to-colleague will be addressed. Throughout the program, participants at each site will be able to interact with panel members in Washington, D.C., by phoning in their questions and sharing reactions with the studio audience.

Sponsored by the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators (NASPA), the teleconference is underwritten at SIUE by the Office of the Vice President for Administration and the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, with registration and arrangements being handled by the Office of Human Relations. More than 100 campuses are expected to participate.

Gerald Thomas, director of the SIUE Office of Human Relations, emphasized that sexual harassment is not a new problem, nor is it just a women's issue. He said colleges and universities have struggled with sexual harassment on campus for many years. How to identify and deal with the problem will be discussed during the teleconference.

Registration for the event is being accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis at the Office of Human Relations, Riedeman Building Room 2225, telephone is 692-2333.

Workshop on quality assurance Thursday at SIUE

The Center for Advanced Manufacturing and Production (CAMP) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a workshop on quality assurance Thursday, Nov. 12. The workshop should be of special interest to owners, plant managers and engineers at area manufacturing and production firms.

A cooperative effort sponsored by Belleville Area College, Lewis and Clark Community College, SIUE, the one-day workshop is scheduled in the Maple Room of the University Center from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Interested persons are advised to register early as attendance will be limited. Topics to be considered include: an overview of quality assurance and control; commitment of top management; effective communication; accuracy of information and production data; and statistical process control. The program will also include steps for assuring continuous quality products and services, such as changing the organizational culture, strategic planning, developing teamwork among employees and identifying and translating customers' expectations into reality. Additional information may be obtained by contacting James Mager at (618) 692-2166.

Specialized Services gets contract with State Police

Gov. Jim Edgar has announced that Specialized Services Inc., Alton and Granite City, has been awarded a $41,000 contract to provide janitorial services for the Illinois State Police under the Illinois State Use Program.

Administered by Centralized Management Services, the State Use Program allows state agencies to purchase needed goods and services through rehabilitation facilities. "The program provides employment opportunities for workers with disabilities and allows the state to receive quality work at competitive costs," Edgar said.

Specialized Services will employ two people with disabilities to provide janitorial services five days a week at the State Police Headquarters in Collinsville, including maintenance of the cafeteria, lobby and vending areas of the complex.

Specialized Services is one of almost 100 rehabilitation facilities in Illinois that participate as vendors in the State Use Program. More than 3,500 people with disabilities are working at rehabilitation facilities statewide to fulfill more than 100 new State Use contracts this fiscal year.

Educators see good in amendment

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

Though the educational funding amendment failed, some educators in the area are still optimistic that it had enough support to make legislators aware of the funding problems public schools face.

Some said that because the amendment received support from more than half the voters, it will have an impact on future legislative decisions.

"I really feel even though it was defeated it still delivers a message to legislators from the people that the people in this state want education to be funded," said Dr. Remo Castrale, superintendent of District 90 schools in O'Fallon.

The controversial constitutional amendment to increase state support for education failed by only 3 percent of the vote in Tuesday's election. It needed 60 percent of the vote to pass. It only received 57 percent, or 1,813,532 votes.

The plan would have required the state to pay 50 percent of the cost of education in each district or at least $3,896 a year per student.

It was opposed by Gov. Jim Edgar, among others, who cited its vagueness and cost. The Granite City School Board did not take a position on the amendment.

In the aftermath of its defeat, Ken Perkins, superintendent of District 110 in Fairview Heights, said legislators should pay attention to the fact that more than half of the voters in the state cast their ballots in favor of the amendment.

"I hope it sends a message to legislators to stop sitting on their hands and do what they haven't done for education in the last 20 years," Perkins said.

Educators who lobbied for the amendment, say state support for public schools has dropped from 48 percent to 33 percent in the past two decades.

The District 110 school board had passed a resolution earlier in the school year in favor of the amendment.

Castrale and Perkins both say that legislators already have the power to increase state funding, but have been lax in appropriating the funds.

"I feel that with some of the new legislators in office and even with some of the incumbents there will be some new opportunities to increase funding," Castrale said.

He said some opponents thought it would guarantee higher taxes without guaranteeing better education. But he disagrees with this theory.

"If the state is providing the money through sales, tax, or through income tax then it would have provided some property tax relief on the local level," he said.

Ron Riegel, superintendent of Belleville school District 118, said schools definitely need more funding from the state, but he was not confident this amendment would provide it.

The language of the amendment was too vague, he said. It placed more responsibility for educational funding on the state, but it did not provide a specific source for generating these funds.

The amendment placed "paramount duty" for education on the state and "preponderant responsibility" for financing it.

It would have had to be interpreted by the courts, Riegel said. "We would have been supporting bad legislation in the hopes of getting more money."

Disabled veterans to get increase

Compensation payments for disabled veterans will go up 3 percent Dec. 1, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs has announced.

Legislation signed into law by President Bush Oct. 24 contained the cost-of-living allowance.

About 2 million veterans receiving monthly payments will notice the increase on checks issued in January.

Compensation including the inflation allowance ranges from $85 a month for a single veteran with a 10 percent disability rating to $1,730 a month for a single veteran with a disability rating of 100 percent.

The increases will also apply to 312,000 survivors of armed service members of veterans who died from service-connected causes.

Veterans with disability ratings of 30 percent or more may get additional allowances for dependents, according to officials of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Bible banquet Saturday in Collinsville

Members from churches through the Metro East are hard at work planning the upcoming Wycliffe Associate's "The Bible for a Changing World" banquet.

The banquet is free and open to the public. As the lay ministry of Wycliffe Bible Translators, Wycliffe Associates involves lay people from communities across the nation in programs who support the work of Bible translation.

The banquet will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 14, at the Quality Inn, Illinois 157 and Interstate 55/70, Collinsville.

The highlight of the evening will be an inspirational presentation by a veteran missionary. The banquet will also include timely reports on Wycliffe's progress in Bible translation, information on how people can be vitally involved in missions without leaving home, and an opportunity to participate in an offering for Bible translation.

Tickets to this informative event are complimentary and can be obtained by calling Gwen Williams at 344-6883 or Marge Pettit at 344-1802.

Gateway BPW hears 'First Strike' presentation

Granite City police officer Michael Sparks presented his seminar, "First Strike," to members of the Gateway BPW on Oct. 21 at Brenda's Restaurant.

Sparks advised the women to be "alert, confident and trust your instincts"—in situations in which you encounter a person who may be a potential attacker.

The group of 40 women listened intently as Sparks related real-life happenings of rape and attempted rape in this area. Vulnerability is a characteristic criminals prey on, he said.

Women seem to have the ability to sense something in strangers—they get "bad feelings." Trust these feelings, Sparks said—don't second-guess them.

He suggested women be ready to use any weapon they may have in their purse to ward off an attacker. A nail file, rat tail-comb or a pair of scissors are all examples of items that can be used for self defense, he said.

He also displayed a chemical spray made up of red pepper and tear gas that can be effective with potential attackers.

Ruth Nicholas, legislative chairman, was chairman for the evening. Her program coincided with National Business Woman's Week, Oct. 18-25. This is in keeping with national guidelines to do, something for women during this week and project the good image of business and professional women.

President Ollie Derr announced the next meeting would be at Brenda's Restaurant on Nov. 18. Cost of the dinner is $7 and reservations can be made by calling 877-8251 or 877-2386.

Winners of the attendance prize were Norma Diak and Audrey Bolt.

Members of the Gateway BPW listen to the "First Strike" presentation.

Helen L. (Rhodes) Bain, 75, of Granite City died Friday, Nov. 6, 1992, at her residence.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church of Granite City, the Rutledge school class and the Royal Neighbors Camp 514 of Patterson, Ill.

Survivors include her husband, Carl Bain, whom she married in 1935; two daughters, Marilyn Ford of Patterson and Shirley M. Claxton of Granite City; a sister, Mary Lou Burton of Patterson; one brother, Russell Rhodes of Freeborn, Mo.; and three grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her parents, James Orville and Bertha (Bricker) Rhodes, and one brother, James Rhodes.

Services were held Monday at the Airman-Hires Funeral Home, White Hall. Burial was at Pine Tree Cemetery, Patterson.

Memorials are suggested for the American Cancer Society.

McKendree gets building as donation

By Jim Haverstick
Staff writer

A former McKendree College trustee has donated the building in downtown Belleville to the college.

Dean McKinley of Belleville said he donated the former Belleville Savings Building, located at 20 E. Main St., to the college to show his support for the school and for Gerrit Tenbrink, college president.

McKinley is a member of Belleville's Union Methodist Church.

McKendree College is a private college affiliated with the United Methodist Church.

McKinley is a Christian-oriented college and has helped a lot of people get an education," McKinley said. "I thought they could use the building more than I could."

McKinley served on the board of trustees at McKendree for five years in the late 1960s.

Tenbrink said the college was extremely grateful for the donation and is investigating different uses for the building.

"I met with our academic dean, director of admissions and the director of our nursing program to explore possible uses for the building," Tenbrink said. "We are taking their ideas and suggestions to my cabinet," he said.

Presently, McKendree has nursing courses at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville and night classes at the Lebanon campus and Scott Air Force Base.

"The administration is still studying the possibilities. It may be quite some time before we know," Lobring said.

The building was built around the turn of the century, McKinley said.

Girls to appear in Korean mini-series

About 35 people gathered Saturday at Glenwood Cemetery for the dedication of a new grave marker for Collinsville's only Congressional Medal of Honor winner, Lt. Nineweth S. McKeen, a Union soldier in the Civil War.

The Friends of the Collinsville Historical Museum and the Sons of the Union Veterans held the event.

The new special marker, appropriate for a Medal of Honor recipient, was set in place on Oct. 31 to replace the old marker, which had deteriorated over the years.

The Wm. T. Sherman Camp 65 of the Sons of the Union Veterans was present Saturday for the dedication, dressed in Civil War uniforms. Near the end of the ceremony, a 21-gun salute was fired.

The Medal of Honor is the highest, most respected honor.

same clientele, but you deal with them after the fact.

"I find they're more docile when you deal with them in this setting than when you deal with them as a police officer."

The department's staff includes 40 probation and parole officers, 30 officers and 30 officers who work at the juvenile detention center.

State government funds a large share of the cost of probation operations and the state's money woes have meant cut-backs.

The caseload has increased, but Astorian has seven fewer probation officers than he had last year.

Astorian said too few people recognize the importance of probation, especially in tough economic times.

"The prisons are so full," he said. "I don't think you can build enough prisons. It's cost prohibitive anymore."

"This probably is the best alternative to prison, the cheapest alternative."

"It's cost-effective. Plus, some of the inmates, you're actually changing them, turning their lives around," Astorian said.

Some former probationers write to thank probation officers for their help, he said.

The cost-effectiveness of probation makes it worth support from state government even in economic hard times, he said.

returned to the farm. "I tried it for a couple of years, but then I went to work at a service station and that's where I stayed."

Branding worked at the Mobil station at Pontoon and Nameki roads until he retired about 30 years ago.

Although Branding said his time in the Army was a "good experience," that, in retrospect, World War I seems to have been for a just cause.

Branding said he is not necessarily an advocate of everyone serving his country in the military.

"The prisons are so full," he said. "I don't think you can build enough prisons. It's cost prohibitive anymore."

"This probably is the best alternative to prison, the cheapest alternative."

"It's cost-effective. Plus, some of the inmates, you're actually changing them, turning their lives around," Astorian said.

Some former probationers write to thank probation officers for their help, he said.

The cost-effectiveness of probation makes it worth support from state government even in economic hard times, he said.

About 35 people gathered Saturday at Glenwood Cemetery for the dedication of a new grave marker for Collinsville's only Congressional Medal of Honor winner, Lt. Nineweth S. McKeen, a Union soldier in the Civil War.

The Friends of the Collinsville Historical Museum and the Sons of the Union Veterans held the event.

The new special marker, appropriate for a Medal of Honor recipient, was set in place on Oct. 31 to replace the old marker, which had deteriorated over the years.

The Wm. T. Sherman Camp 65 of the Sons of the Union Veterans was present Saturday for the dedication, dressed in Civil War uniforms. Near the end of the ceremony, a 21-gun salute was fired.

The Medal of Honor is the highest, most respected honor.

McKendree gets building as donation

A former McKendree College trustee has donated the building in downtown Belleville to the college.

Dean McKinley of Belleville said he donated the former Belleville Savings Building, located at 20 E. Main St., to the college to show his support for the school and for Gerrit Tenbrink, college president.

McKinley is a member of Belleville's Union Methodist Church.

McKendree College is a private college affiliated with the United Methodist Church.

McKinley is a Christian-oriented college and has helped a lot of people get an education," McKinley said. "I thought they could use the building more than I could."

McKinley served on the board of trustees at McKendree for five years in the late 1960s.

Tenbrink said the college was extremely grateful for the donation and is investigating different uses for the building.

"I met with our academic dean, director of admissions and the director of our nursing program to explore possible uses for the building," Tenbrink said. "We are taking their ideas and suggestions to my cabinet," he said.

Presently, McKendree has nursing courses at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville and night classes at the Lebanon campus and Scott Air Force Base.

"The administration is still studying the possibilities. It may be quite some time before we know," Lobring said.

The building was built around the turn of the century, McKinley said.

Dessert was served by the Granite City Legion Auxiliary following the course.

Time to limit children's time in front of the 'tube'

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

There are many qualities that are difficult to measure—beauty, kindness, generosity and violence on television. But that does not mean these attributes do not exist.

And in the case of violence on television, just because it is difficult to measure we cannot then infer that it is not a problem. This is the argument advanced by David Bianculli in "Teletivity: Taking Television Seriously" (Continuum Publishing, $24.95).

Bianculli argues very convincingly in his book about the many positive influences of television on our culture. But his dismissal of concerns about the youth of our nation and their infatuation with television fails to adequately address the problems.

People concerned about the development of children have two basic complaints about television as a childhood activity: the proliferation of violence and inappropriate social messages in contemporary television shows, and the amount of time American children spend engaging in this passive activity.

Bianculli argues that because we cannot adequately measure violence on television, there is no need to worry about it. That would be a convenient escape from the problem, but many experts do not agree with Bianculli.

The American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics are two organizations that have expressed official concerns about the amount of violence children today are witnessing on television.

"Children's exposure to television and television violence should become part of the public health agenda, along with safety seats, bicycle helmets, immunizations and good nutrition," writes Brandon Centner in an American Medical Association statement released in June.

The statement continues that television violence has well-documented effects on children and increases levels of physical aggressiveness and violence on the part of children.

Violence, like beauty, is in the eye of the beholder. But most people would agree wholeheartedly that television violence is on the rise and cannot be beneficial for our children.

A Parade magazine survey of 25,000 eighth-graders found that these children spent 21.7 hours per week watching television. This same group spent 5.6 hours a week on homework and 1.8 hours reading or studying.

Three hours a day of television is too much. The amount of time children spend watching television is critical even if they are watching educational or innocuous programs.

My 7-year-old son has less than four hours of free time a day on school days. Although older children would have more free time because they require less sleep, there still is not enough time in their day for these kids to spend three hours in front of a television set.

Children need diverse experiences and time for exercise, reading, hobbies and sports—what was known in the good old days as playing.

Most parents would be concerned if their child spent the majority of his free time playing with just one friend or engaging in just one activity.

That concern should be even greater if that friend is extremely powerful and influential and has motivations that do not necessarily include the best interests of the child.

ASTONISHING SOUND FROM "INVISIBLE" SPEAKERS WITH BOSE ACOUSTIMASS™ TECHNOLOGY!
The BOSE AM-3 II Direct/Reflecting® Loudspeaker System. You can hide the tiny "cube" loudspeakers conveniently behind a plant or lamp, but their performance is astonishing. They deliver crisp, clear high/mid-frequencies. And for silky smooth, perfectly blended bass, place the Acoustimass™ bass module anywhere on the floor. All together, they match if not surpass many full-size, high performance loudspeakers!

QUICK, COOK!

Organize pantry and pastas for a week's worth of meals

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

During the week there is little time to dawdle over dinner. If a family is lucky enough to find time to sit down and eat together, that is what they want to do.

Michele Urvater, author of the "Monday to Friday Cookbook" (Workman Publishing, $14.95), says there are many strategies for successful meals during the week.

"Start by building up a pantry," she says. "Start slowly. Think about one or two meals that week. Shop for them only once."

Disorganization yields chaotic meal times, she feels. Because people are not learning cooking techniques at home — often because there is no knowledgeable person there to teach them — Urvater sees people clinging to recipes. Urvater calls a recipe a "blueprint."

"People are so wedded to an exact recipe. They should be looser. Maybe they like more garlic. Start with simpler dishes and techniques, then you can vary. Recipes should inspire you. You don't have to be a brain surgeon to cook."

She believes in cooking once, no matter when people come to eat the food. This applies when her husband is an hour late for dinner. This also means that she can prepare a roast on Sunday and re-invent meals with the leftover meat during the week.

A pantry should provide the elements of a meal when there is no time to buy foods fresh. Urvater has tips for working from a pantry:

- Start by improvising just one ingredient. She adds kernel corn to taco filling, for instance.

- Keep a can of Italian-style stewed tomatoes on hand. The tomatoes have onion and peppers with them and, with their liquid, blend easily with other flavors.

- Kids cannot resist almost anything that resembles a taco, tortilla or pizza. Tortillas, cut in wedges like chips, can be heated in a toaster oven as a pre-dinner snack.

- When making a double batch of stew, omit potatoes in the second batch because they do not freeze well. Instead, add long-grain rice when reheating it to add starch and thickening.

- Pasta can be served hot one night and chilled as salad the next. For the salad, add ½ cup vinaigrette or Italian salad dressing, a bit of fresh parsley to brighten color and, if necessary, a little more cooked chicken, tuna or beef to match the original.

Capellini With Herbed Cottage Cheese is a dish Urvater likes to serve on Wednesday, the mid-week hump in her momentum. The other recipes are from the National Pasta Association.

To receive the pasta association's quarterly newsletter, send $5 to:

"Positively Pasta," 2101 Wilson Blvd., Suite 920, Arlington, Va. 22201. For free recipes using fresh vegetables, write for "Salad Greens and More" and "Fresh Vegetables From Dole," from: Dole Consumer Center, P.O. Box 31701, San Francisco, Calif. 94120.

Capellini with herbed cottage cheese

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1 shallot or 2 scallions (green onions) | ½ tsp. dried lemon peel  |
| ¼ cup olive oil                         | 1 cup low-fat cottage cheese                                   |
| ¼ cup fresh parsley leaves              | Freshly ground black pepper                                    |
| 2 tsp. dried tarragon                   | 1 lb. uncooked capellini, thin spaghetti or other thin noodles |
| 1 tbsp. lemon juice                     |  |

Bring large pot of salted water to boil for pasta. Boil until tender but still firm to the bite. Drain pasta. Return to pot with heat turned off.

Peel and halve shallot, or trim scallions and cut in 2-inch pieces. Drop into food processor with oil, parsley, tarragon, lemon juice and peel and cottage cheese. Puree until mixture is smooth. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Cook pasta in boiling water 5 to 10 minutes, depending on how thick pasta is, until tender but still firm to the bite. Drain pasta. Return to pot with heat off. Add cheese mixture. Toss thoroughly. Serve immediately.

Makes 2 servings; mixture can be doubled.

For a richer version, substitute ricotta for cottage cheese.

Garden party pasta

- |  |                              |
|--|------------------------------|
| 1 pkg. (8 oz.) uncooked fettuccine pasta           | 3 cloves garlic, pressed     |
| 1 red bell pepper, cut in chunks                   | 1½ tsp. oregano, crumbled    |
| 1 tsp. olive oil                                   | 1 tsp. rosemary, crumbled    |
| 1 bunch cauliflower, trimmed into florets (2 cups) | 1 cup chopped fresh parsley  |
| 1 cup julienne-cut carrot                          | ½ cup whole almonds, toasted |
| 1 cup sliced green onion                           | Zest and juice from ½ lemon  |
| ½ cup sliced celery                                | Grated parmesan cheese       |
|  | Salt and pepper to taste     |

Cook fettuccine according to package directions. Drain. In hot 12-inch skillet, sauté red pepper chunks until tiny blisters form. Remove from pan.

In same pan, heat oil. Sauté cauliflower, carrot, green onion, celery, garlic, oregano and rosemary 2 minutes. Cook, covered, 3 to 5 minutes until tender-crisp, stirring occasionally. Add pasta, parsley, almonds, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon lemon zest and bell pepper to pan. Toss until well combined and heated through. Sprinkle with cheese, salt and pepper to taste.

Makes 6 servings.

Hunting season secures lots of venison feasts

By Mary Schroepfer

Every fall my family and I look forward to dining on venison roast, squirrel and wild turkey. When my hunter is lucky, those feasts are frequent. When he is not, friends and relatives share their bounty like the pilgrims of colonial times.

Nutritionally, wild game is lower in fat than beef. Lean beef provides 6 to 7 grams fat per 3½-ounce serving, while venison has about 1½ grams fat for the same size serving. This size serving equals a piece of meat about the size of the palm of a woman's hand.

Venison does contain more cholesterol than other meats. Beef contains 75 to 90 milligrams cholesterol per serving, while venison contains 112 milligrams cholesterol. Deer are stressed during hunting season and stress is known to trigger the production of cholesterol. Like other meats, venison is a good source of protein, iron and zinc.

Prompt and proper field dressing, chilling, storing and preparing are essential. An error or delay in any of these areas can cause food spoilage problems, off flavors and even illness.

Because venison is so lean, it is wise to follow a few basic cooking guidelines:

- Use low heat and a moist method of cooking. Stewing, roasting in a pot or braising are excellent, particularly for older or very lean venison. Dry heat methods—such as broiling, grilling or barbecuing—are suitable for young, tender game.
- Do not overcook, because venison can become tough at high heat.
- Reduce sugar in sauce recipes. Venison is sweeter than other meat. Use one-fourth less sugar than for domestic meats.
- Remove all fat from meat before cooking. If fat is desired, add ground pork or beef fat.
- If in doubt about the age of the animal, marinate the meat at least 24 hours before cooking. A simple marinade consists of equal parts vinegar and water, flavored with onion rings, whole cloves and a bay leaf. The marinade removes some gamey taste and helps tenderize the meat.
- Venison can be frozen for later use. Meat should be thawed in

Wise Ways

Fast nutrition on a budget

the refrigerator soon after thawing. The recommended storage time is two to three months for ground meat, eight to 12 months for roasts and steaks.

Directions for freezing or canning venison are available from University Extension. For information on cleaning, preparing and freezing deer, order "G 2915 Deer - From Field to Table" from a local Missouri office: 414 East Main, Union, 63084 in Franklin County; 121 S. Meramec, Suite 501, St. Louis, 63105 in St. Louis City or County; P.O. Box 497, Hillsboro, 63050-0497 in Jefferson County; or 260 Brown Road, St. Peters, 63376 in St. Charles County.

In addition, "Cy Littlebee's Guide to Cooking Fish and Game" is available for $2.64 from the Missouri Department of Conservation, 11753 Cragwood Road, St. Louis, Mo. 63122.

When cooking venison, I use the ground meat as a versatile substitute for ground beef in chili, casseroles and meatloaf. Here is a simple meatball recipe that goes together in a snap.

Venison meatballs

½ lb. ground venison
½ cup Italian bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 can (8 oz.) unsalted tomato sauce

Mix together venison, bread crumbs and egg. Shape into balls. In mustard skillet, lightly brown meatballs on all sides. Evenly pour tomato sauce over meatballs. Simmer, covered, 10 minutes.

Tours offer diversity of 'Last Frontier'

The Journals' 1993 Grand Alaska Tour departs on July 24 when the season is at its peak and the weather is nearly perfect.

Combining the famous Inside Passage cruise with 10 days in the interior, it is "more than just a cruise," but an experience of a lifetime.

Among the stops on this varied two-week sojourn are Fairbanks for gold mining and Denali National Park and Mount McKinley for flightseeing, Anchorage, Mount Alyeska, Skagway, Juneau, Glacier Bay and Sitka provide a glimpse of Alaska's great diversity.

Compare the Grand Tour with other Alaska tours. The extensive itinerary, the all-inclusive price and the attention to detail make this one of the finest tours available.

The service and accommodations are legendary on the Journal Grand Tours. "The intimacy of a small group of fellow Journal Readers traveling on a well-planned itinerary, enjoying all the meals, comprehensive sightseeing, evening entertainment, and a wide range of services and events brings to these travel programs their just reputation for grandness."

The Journal Grand Tours travel to Hawaii, Alaska and Europe's Alpine countries in 1993. For information and reservations contact Terriann Travel at 894-5555 or 800-333-5910.

Soul Asylum pushes on after setbacks

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

Soul Asylum should have been a contender. Over the course of five critically acclaimed albums and two EPs, the scrappy four-piece band forged a catchy, hard-hitting guitar-rock style that certainly fits, and might even have helped shape today's ballyhooed Seattle sound.

But a year ago, after a decade of musical excellence, what were the four members of Soul Asylum doing while kindred spirits like Nirvana and Pearl Jam skyrocketed to multiplatinum fame and fortune? They were back home in Minneapolis with no record deal, trying to figure out how such a promising career had gone off track.

More amazingly, three of the members—bassist Karl Mueller, drummer Grant Young and guitarist Dan Murphy—were back working day jobs. Only singer-songwriter guitarist Dave Pirner had yet to succumb to the nine-to-five world.

—It was a real scary time, yep," Mueller said. "We were basically floundering for a few months there when we didn't know what was going to be happening at all."

Fortunately, a light at the end of the tunnel has since appeared for the band. The heavyweight label Columbia Records signed the group and the alliance has now produced a new Soul Asylum record, "Grave Dancers Union."

It's a typically outstanding effort, featuring powerhouse rootsy rockers like "Somebody To Shove," "April Fool" and "Keep It Up," balanced by an occasional tuneful and sturdy ballad like "The Sun Maid" or "Runaway Train"—in short, the kind of musical mix Soul Asylum has offered throughout its career.

The Soul Asylum saga began in 1981 when Pirner, Murphy, Mueller and Pat Morley formed a group called Loud Fast Rules. By 1983 when Young replaced Morley, the band already had released an EP "Say What You Will (Anything Can Happen)" under the newly christened Soul Asylum name.

Two follow-up LPs, "Made To Be Broken" and "While You

Were Out," and a 20-song cassette, "Times Incinerator," all released in 1986, built the band a small but solid core of fans and an impressive collection of rave reviews.

A major label deal with A&M seemed to set the stage for bigger and better things. But even now Mueller sounds more than a little perplexed over why the band's two A&M albums, "Hang Time" and "Soul Asylum and the Horse They Rode In On," failed the way they did.

A lot of people at A&M worked their butts off for us," Mueller said. "There were a lot of really good people. It's just somehow, the overall thing, the overall picture, just didn't click."

Those events also prompted the band members to question their own abilities. "There was a lot of introspection and self-critiquing going on, definitely, because I thought the two records we made at A&M were the best records we could make—at that time," Mueller said.

The months Soul Asylum spent without a record deal gave the band members time to revisit their music and rethink its direction. In the end Mueller said he grew convinced the records were good, and the band emerged on "Grave Dancers Union" sounding like the Soul Asylum of old.

"When we were learning most of the songs for this record, we got together and went down to Dave's basement with two acoustic guitars and just a tiny little drum kit," Mueller said. "We learned all these songs acoustically, and this was while we were in between labels. We had no idea what was going to happen, but we were still getting together."

Given the disappointments Soul Asylum has endured, Mueller may surprise some with his upbeat opinions about a music scene that has so far overlooked his band. In the long run, today's trends might help Soul Asylum, he said.

"I'm really happy to see what's going on with music right now," he said. "And I think it's great that guitar bands, rock bands, are actually in the Top 10 in records... and I'm so happy that finally radio, (which) I would say is probably the biggest factor there, finally caught on and said oh, wait, there is a market for this."

Soul Asylum headlines a Nov. 12 show at Mississippi Nights. Tickets for the 8:30 p.m. concert, which also features the Lemmings, are $10 in advance, $12 day of show.

'River' flows with ease, perfection

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Robert Redford's third film as a director, "A River Runs Through It," is an exquisite work.

Based on Norman Maclean's autobiographical novel about fly-fishing and family life, the film is an inspiration. It's one of those rare motion pictures that seems to get better and better as you absorb it.

Redford, who directed "Ordinary People" in 1980 and "The Milagro Beanfield War" in 1988, offers narration lifted from the pages of the book of the same title in "A River Runs Through It."

The story follows the maturation of two brothers. The siblings, Norman and Paul Maclean, are played by Craig Sheffer and Brad Pitt, respectively.

Set in Montana in the early 1900s prior to the Great Depression, "A River Runs Through It" traces the growth of the boys in a family run by a stern but caring father, played by Tom Skerritt. The elder Maclean is a Presbyterian minister who has difficulty communicating when he isn't behind the pulpit. He uses his passion for fly-fishing to teach his sons about spirituality.

Brenda Blethyn appears as Mrs. Maclean. Emily Lloyd is Jessie, Norman's hometown love interest. Nicole Burdette is excellent in a small role as Mabel, Paul's girlfriend. She's half Cheyenne Indian and the victim of racial prejudice.

As the boys mature, Norman goes east to college and considers a teaching career. Paul stays closer to home and becomes a newspaper reporter. He also picks up the damning habits of gambling and drinking.

As "A River Runs Through It" unfolds, the film combines an extraordinary story with beautiful scenes of man and nature. It's a texture that allows this film to illustrate the unspoken connection between the two.

Redford has taken a simple book and made it into a simply perfect movie. It is the kind of picture you'll want to see more than once.

Watch for the Academy Award nominations for Best Picture of 1992 to include the title "A River Runs Through It." No picture I've seen this year deserves it more.

Disney wraps up some holiday treasures

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

The movie business has been lukewarm for most of 1992. So why is Disney Pictures' chairman Jeffrey Katzenberg smiling?

For one thing, last year's Christmas animated hit, "Beauty and the Beast," grossed $1 million in sales on its first day of video sales (Oct. 9) — more than any other new video release in the history of the industry.

More importantly, Disney has three major motion pictures slated for release between Nov. 11 and Dec. 11 that all seem to have the word "hit" written all over them. Each is superior in its own right and presents some splendid family entertainment possibilities for the Christmas holidays.

Here's a brief synopsis of Disney's Christmas line-up:

"Aladdin"
Opening in St. Louis on Nov. 25, (after limited release in New York and Los Angeles on Nov. 11) Disney freshens up its winning ways in animation with a retelling of the classic "Arabian Nights" fairy tale.

Featuring cameo appearances by the likes of Pinocchio and a splendid comic performance by Robin Williams as the voice of the Genie, "Aladdin" is hip entertainment for adults that still engages the kids. Families should flock to this one together, with the adults possibly sneaking back for a second visit all on their own.

"The Distinguished Gentleman"

The buzz words will be "Eddie Murphy is back!" after audiences catch a glimpse of the talented comic actor in "The Distinguished Gentleman," opening Dec. 4.

It is possibly Murphy's best movie to date. In the picture, Murphy plays a con artist in Florida who scams his way into a seat in the U.S. Congress.

According to Murphy's character, Congress is the perfect place for a con man to work.

"The Distinguished Gentleman" has no violence and relatively "clean" language, giving it broad audience appeal. An excellent supporting cast and a very funny script make "The Distinguished Gentleman" a distinguished choice for laughs this Christmas movie season. Murphy hasn't been this good since his heydays on "Saturday Night Live."

"The Muppet Christmas Carol"

The little heralded but absolutely wonderful "The Muppet Christmas Carol," directed by Brian Henson, son of the late Muppet originator Jim Henson, opens Dec. 11. Michael Caine plays Scrooge and Academy Award-winner Paul Williams contributes a slug of great new songs.

The film is flip, funny and full of the spirit of the season. The humor radiates fun and laughter for adults and kids alike, with something for everyone. It's the best Muppet movie ever, in my opinion.

Kermit the Frog, left, stars as Bob Cratchit and Robin, right, is young Tiny Tim Cratchit, in "The Muppet Christmas Carol."

Eddie Murphy stars as Thomas Jefferson Johnson, a big-time con artist who scams his name onto the ballot and, amazingly, gets elected to the U.S. Congress, in "The Distinguished Gentleman."

VFW Auxiliary meeting held

The regular monthly meeting of the Pvt. Henry Ostendorf Auxiliary Post 1300 was called to order at 7:30 a.m. by Senior Vice President Pat Farmer, with 14 members present.

Rehabilitation Chairman Lois Hansen reported the loss of a sister, Betty Daugherty, two members in hospitals (Margaret Dowdy and Gail Benson) and that President Shirley Brenner is now home recuperating from surgery.

Membership Chairman Margaret Champion reported 60 percent paid up in membership.

Kitchen Chairman Mary K. Culin reported the men are cleaning and remodeling the kitchen. It should be done in November.

Hospital Chairman Olive Conway reported five ladies going to Cochran VA Hospital. Coffee and desserts were served and Bingo games were played by the Veterans.

Ways and Means Chairman Bonnie Costello reported the fish fries will start Jan. 8 and will run through April 9 every Friday from 11 a.m. till 7 p.m. Help is needed in the kitchen — even two hours would be greatly appreciated.

It was reported the craft show will be Nov. 14. Tables are still available for rent.

Also there will be a bake sale on the same day. Call Post Home at 877-8764 for rental of tables.

Mary K. Culin reported four ladies attended the 12th District meeting at Cottage Hills, and took the Rules of the Road program.

Donations were noted on and passed to donate to Salvation Army, American Society and United Veterans.

District 12 President Mary Ann Coffey was introduced, as was 12th District Senior Vice President Margaret Champion and 12th District Patriotic Instructor Mary K. Culin.

President Mary Ann reminded everyone of this year's theme: "To Serve God and our Veterans with Love, Respect and Responsibility." Department President Rosemary's theme and "Heroism, Duty and Faithfulness" is national theme.

SEARS

—correction notice—

In the 11/4 Sears advertising mailer you may have received the photos of the kenmore refrigerator #60011 and #62581 are incorrectly shown as side-by-side when in fact both are a top mount refrigerator.

In the 11/8 Sears newspaper insert, the vac bags are incorrectly shown as on sale for $99, reg. $199. The sale price should have read $125, reg. $250 for the 3-pac of vac bags.

In the 11/5, 11/8 and 11/11 Sears' news newspaper insert, the IBM #32201 PS/1 486SX computer is advertised for sale. Due to great national demand for this computer, we no longer have any available for sale. Sears regrets any inconvenience this may cause our customers.

FOOD LOVERS DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free diet pills were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information over looked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely. Now available:

AT MEMORIAL, WE LISTEN.

When our patients asked for assistance in understanding and filing their health insurance claims, we listened.

We know that wading through hospital and physician bills sometimes can be confusing and overwhelming. Memorial offers a Billing Assistance Service to help you understand, complete and file claims with your insurance carrier.

While only service providers can directly submit claims to Medicare, we will attempt to help you understand your "Medicare Explanation of Benefits." We will also assist you in submitting your claim forms for your Medicare Supplemental Policy or for other health insurance policies.

There's no club to join, no annual membership fee to pay, no age limitations - it's just another amenity we provide for the entire community.

For your convenience, Memorial's Billing Assistance Service Representative is available by appointment only to assist you. Call 233-7750, extension 5510, to schedule your appointment.

Greetings of Hope

Holiday cards send cheer, raise funds to help others

By Carolyn Marty
Staff writer

For the past 23 years, artist Robert Hanselmann has been designing the Christmas cards that the American Heart Association sells as its holiday fundraiser. This year, he was the beneficiary of the research it supports.

Hanselmann, who has created an original painting for the AHA's exclusive use in its Landmark Holiday Card series, was diagnosed in April with cardiovascular problems and underwent a quadruple bypass surgery. Recovering from his surgery, he again this year painted a watercolor, which will grace the AHA's holiday card.

This year's design is of the Climatron, one of the Missouri Botanical Garden's most popular attractions. The Climatron, built in 1960, is the world's first geodesic dome greenhouse.

The AHA is among numerous organizations that sell holiday cards as a fund-raising project. It offers the public an opportunity to send a beautiful card to loved ones and friends and to make a contribution to a group or groups of their choice.

Information on some of these organizations follows.

American Cancer Society: Proceeds from the sale go to support local programs of cancer control. Thirteen designs ranging from contemporary to traditional, 25 cards per box. Price: $13-$25 per box. Imprinting available for an additional fee. Deadline for imprinting is Dec. 1. Information: 967-9700.

American Heart Association: Proceeds support the association's fight against cardiovascular diseases and stroke. The Climatron is featured this year. Twenty-five cards per box, also available in assortment package of cards which will include Climatron, the St. Louis Science Center, the Eads Bridge and the Thomas Sappington House. Contributions last year averaged to 60 cents per card. Information: 367-3383 (St. Louis) or 1-800-326-3383.

Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital, the Candlelighters Society: Proceeds help support services for families and friends of children who have had some form of childhood cancer. The design on the front of this year's card was drawn by Donald Beasley, 11, who was diagnosed with Hodgkins Disease when he was 8 years old. He has been off treatment since 1989. The poem inside was written by Jennifer Magoffin, 13. She is the sister of Scott who has completed three years of therapy for Leukemia. Price: 15 for $5. Cards available at information desk at hospital, 1465 S. Grand Blvd., or can be mailed for a fee. Information: in Missouri, Connie Scott, 343-9719; in Illinois, Judy Diesel, 618-476-3733.

Catholic Family Services: Proceeds go to help families who cannot afford to pay for counseling services. Forty different designs available. Cards can be ordered in a single design or in an assortment. Price: $4.95-$6.95. Imprinting available for additional cost. Deadline for imprinting: Dec. 1. Also, calendars, postcards, postcards and notepaper available. Information: 968-8010.

Delta Gamma Center for Visually Impaired Children: Pro-

St. Louis Association for Retarded Citizens

ceeds help provide specialized aid services to children who are blind or visually impaired. The outside design was created by Donna Hein, a Delta Gamma who is a student in Fine Arts at Washington University. The inside message is in Braille and printed in script. Price: 10 for $6; 25 for $15; and 50 for $30. Imprinting extra. Deadline for personalized orders: Nov. 27. Shipping charge: $5. Information: 963-0578.

Epworth Children's Home: Proceeds support Epworth's work with severely troubled children. This year's card features a drawing of a boy and his dog gazing at the star of Bethlehem drawn by auxiliary member Betty Beene. Cost: 25 cards for $8; 50 for $15; and 100 for $30. Imprinting extra. Information: 961-5718.

Girls Incorporated of St. Louis: Proceeds support educational, motivational, recreational and personal development programs for inner-city girls age 6 to 18. Price: Box of 12 cards with three cards of four designs for $10. Information: 385-0088.

Life Seekers: Proceeds help save the lives of premature and ill newborns. Price: 20 cards for $4. For postage and handling add $2 for one or two packages; $2.50 for three or four packages. Information: 928-1443; 857-7250.

St. Joseph Institute for the Deaf: Proceeds help deaf children learn to talk. Three designs available: "Little King," "Sharing" and "Candle." Price: 25 cards for $12. Imprinting: $3 for one to 100 cards. Information: 967-2331.

St. Louis Association for Retarded Citizens: Proceeds help provide service to individuals with mental retardation. The outside of this year's card was designed by Steve Wright, one of SLARC's Leisure Service participants. Price: 20 cards for $15; $5 for 50 matching sheets of note paper (optional); and $2 per order for postage and handling. Deadline: Dec. 10. Information: Anita, 569-2211, ext. 242.

St. Louis Children's Hospital, Auxiliary-Twigs: Proceeds benefit patient care, education and

Granite City collects Mon-Clair hardware Eagles celebrate first M-C title

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Granite City baseball manager Daren DePew might consider getting a new trophy case to house what the Eagles landed at the Mon-Clair League's awards banquet Saturday night.

The Eagles, who won their first league playoff title over the summer, walked off with the Mon-Clair title trophy and three different individual awards at the banquet in Millstadt. DePew won the manager of the year award, which was voted on by the league's managers.

Darin Hendrickson was given the team's Most Valuable Player award, and Jamie Hogan was presented with a plaque for winning the Monroe Division batting title.

"It was nice to walk out with all that hardware," DePew said. "We really enjoyed the evening. It's pretty exciting. Hopefully, that bodes well for the future."

"It was like the Emmys," Hendrickson said. "We had a real good time."

The Eagles capped an extraordinary comeback season by defeating East Alton for the league playoff title Aug. 30.

Granite City entered the year on shaky ground following several forfeits in the 1991 season. But Granite City took the league by storm, splitting with perennial champion Waterloo twice and finishing 16-3 in the regular season.

The Eagles were able to add a handful of new players, including Harshany and Mike Nordstrom, and veterans like DePew took charge. The Eagles carried out the original plans of former

Collinsville rallies, defends state title

By David Wilhelm
Staff writer

The Evanson Wildkits entered Saturday's state-championship soccer game against Collinsville with the same in-your-face swagger that the St. Charles Saints possessed in 1991.

Like the Saints, Evanson appeared nearly invincible. It had won 21 straight games and was unscathed upon in previous matches against Morton and Batavia. Many onlookers favored the Wildkits to win the title.

For the Kahoks, it was 1991 all over again. Only the site had changed.

And, like St. Charles, Evanson walked off the field on a losing note. The Kahoks' comeback from behind 2-1 victory at Naperville North High gave southern teams 13 state titles in the last 17 years.

The Kahoks (22-5) finished the season on a 17-game winning streak, and became the first team other than Granite City to repeat as champions. The Warriors won in 1989 and 1990.

Kahoks coach Ron Rowden couldn't help but reflect back on the Kahoks' unlikely repeat.

"I'm just thinking right now of all the things this team has gone through to get here," said Rowden. "Injuries. Bad luck.

Eagles' Hendrickson a hands-down MVP

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Granite City manager Daren DePew had little doubt about which Eagles player truly deserved the team's Most Valuable Player award.

On a team full of MVP candidates, Darin Hendrickson had to stand out. Hendrickson was the team's workhorse this season, alternating between pitching starts and playing second base for the Eagles.

Hendrickson helped lead Granite City to the Mon-Clair playoff title by gaining both wins over East Alton in a three-game series. Hendrickson also chipped in at the plate with several key at-bats along the way.

"Darin did just about everything for us all year," DePew said. "He's an all-around player. He throws the ball real well, and he's also a clutch hitter."

"Darin's a great athlete. He got some big hits in game situations."

Hendrickson, who finished up his college career at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville earlier this year, posted a 7-3 record and a 3.21 earned-run average for the Eagles. He batted .400.

After a slow start, Hendrickson (See MVP, Page 2D)

Local racing team speeds on

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Barzoff and Dixon racing team recently concluded another successful season by winning 27 feature events and topping the Allied Auto Racing Association's Charlie and Sandy Barzoff of Granite City, who own the team's fleet of three modifieds and one late model stock car, have a history of success. Their driver is Ed Dixon of Washington, Mo.

The team won championships in the modifieds at the St. Charles (Mo.) Speedway and 155 Raceway in Pevely, Mo. The team completed a sweep by winning the overall championship between the two tracks.

In the late model stock car division, the team won four feature events at St. Charles Speedway and two feature events at Godfrey Speedway. The team also did well at one-mile tracks against some of the best competition in the country, placing third at the Illinois State Fairgrounds in Springfield and 10th at the Indianapolis State Fairgrounds.

In July, the team raced at the Madison County Fair in Highland and won. The team also won the 50-lap season championship in the late model division at both St. Charles and Pevely.

The team is sponsored by Dan Athoff Trucking Co. of High Ridge, Mo., Henry's Bar & Grill in Collinsville and Omni Construction Co. of Collinsville.

Dixon, 38, has 19 years of racing experience. He and his father, Mel Dixon, own and operate Dixon Motor Sales in Washington, Mo.

Charlie Barzoff, a lifelong resident of Granite City, was a successful drag racer before getting interested in the circle dirt track

The Barzoff racing team's late model stock car, driven by Ed Dixon, captured titles at the St. Charles (Mo.) Speedway and 155 Raceway.

The Barzoff racing team displays one of its three modified cars, for the 1993 season and compete in the late model division.

GCHS class of 1947 holds 45-year reunion

The Granite City High School January and June classes of 1947 reunited this year at the Sunset Hills Country Club for a banquet and an evening of dancing.

Attending were 198 classmates and their guests, representing at least 50 percent of the class.

White carnations, furnished by June classmate Ed. Werner, were placed in a vase as the names of the 32 deceased members of the classes were read by Winona Corzilius and Jean Hileman.

Music was provided by Class Act, a group led by James Moore of Collinsville. Randall Steele played piano selections during cocktail hour, and Charles Herman and David Evans served as masters of ceremony.

The day after the banquet, the class members toured Granite City High School and the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame. Several of the class members saw their names and pictures on display at the hall for the first time.

The tour was followed by a catered picnic at Wilson Park attended by approximately 100 classmates and guests. A tree in commemoration of the classes was planted in the Japanese Garden and a commemorative brick was installed.

Serving on the planning committee for the reunion were co-chairmen Winona Conner Corzilius and Dorothy Schilling Kinney, Marian Dettmer Hamilos, James Dimitroff, David Evans, Elizabeth Jones Payne, Everett Steele, Diane Thomas Schwendeman, Dolores Wigger Vogeler, Deloyce Craig Maples, Dorothy Demaree Lerner, Jean Donley Hileman, Charles Herman, Alice Lueker Province, Celeste McGarran Puryear and Maxine Ruemmler Nemeth.

Lioness Club meets

The Pontoon Beach Lioness Club held a membership luncheon party Oct. 11 at the Lions Den in Pontoon Beach.

Entertainment was provided by the Missouri Foggy River Cloggers. Christy Wells and Helen York did a special number called "By the Sea, By the Sea." Games were played and prizes were passed out.

The club reported that last year it gave out $15,000 in donations, two scholarships to students and provided five people with hearing aids.

New DeMolay officers here are installed

The officers of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, were installed Oct. 3 in a public ceremony at the Granite City Masonic Temple.

Chapter Advisor Charles Meyer welcomed the audience and introduced Athletic Advisor William A. Cochran Jr., who served as master of ceremonies for the installation.

The installing team was from the Marion G. Laubscher Chapter in Brighton and consisted of installing Officer Jeffrey Turner, the chapter's junior counselor and a Grand Ritualist; installing Senior Counselor David A. Romano, the chapter's first master counselor; a Representative DeMolay, Lamp of Knowledge and a Chevalier; installing Junior Chad Cross, the chapter's standard bearer; installing Marshall John Cox and installing Senior Deacon Kenneth Zimmer.

Honored guests were Krystie M. Harris, state sweetheart representative Illinois DeMolay; Bradley D. Nance, state master counselor Illinois DeMolay; and Jimmy E. "Dad" St. Blanton, member and grand senior steward of the International Supreme Council Order of DeMolay and executive officer in Illinois.

Installed were Jason P. Millsap, master counselor; Timothy M. Howell, senior counselor and orator; Nathan J. McCrary, junior counselor; Scott A. Yokley, chaplain; Jason S. Blanton, senior deacon; Matthew R.P. Gitley, junior deacon; Jason M. Windbeck, senior steward; Robert H. O'Bear, junior steward; Christopher R. Adler, marshal; Steven O. Sander, 2nd preceptor; Michael P. Elledge, 3rd preceptor; and David K. Zarate, 4th preceptor.

Not present to be installed were Matthew W. Howell, sentinels; Christopher L. Tanksley, standard bearer; Daryl J. Harper, almoner; William A. Ingraham, 1st preceptor; Michael J. Prichard, 5th preceptor; Charles Stacey Goodman, 6th preceptor; and Corey L. Reed, 7th preceptor.

Kathleen Offt played for the installation, married and accompanied Diana Livingston, who sang a solo for the master counselor while Jason Millsap knelt at the altar and a solo for Cindy Millsap, mother of the master counselor, who was presented with an arm bouquet of 17 roses, one for each year of his life, by Jason Millsap. The new officers introduced the members of their families.

Charles Bettis of Cahokia, Senior DeMolay and Chevalier, gave the Ode to the Flag. Introduced were Robert Sander, junior warden of Granite City Lodge 877 AF & AM; Paul Hertzberg, excellent high priest of Granite City Chapter 221 Royal Arch Masons; Jerome E. "Jerry" Pergacz, president of the Tri-City Shrine Club; Charles Meyer, president of Aina DeMolay Unit; and V. Thorne, worthy matron of Granite City Granite City Chapter 650 Order of Eastern Star.

Also introduced were the visiting DeMolays, Job's Daughters, Rainbow Girls, and members of the honor groups Degree of Chevalier, Active Legion of Honor, Honorary Legion of Honor, DeMolay Cross of Honor, past master counselors, visiting advisors and chapter sweethearts. Harris, the Illinois Sweetheart, was given a wrist corsage by Jason Millsap and Harris gave a brief speech. Nance also gave a brief speech and introduced the state officers: William "Bo" Marshall, deputy state master counselor; Jaemoid L. Satterlee, state junior counselor; Michael Love, state chaplain; Chris Giffson, state senior deacon. Stuart congratulated the officers and the installing team and introduced Mary Stuart, administrator of the Mothers and Father's Clubs of Illinois. Mary Stuart spoke briefly and introduced the officer of the Mother's and Father's Clubs who were present.

O'Bear with his Past Master Councilor's Jewel. Robbie O'Bear presented a Master Councilor pin to Jason Millsap and awarded Nathan McCrary with the DeMolay of the Term trophy.

Chapter Sweetheart Karl Pederson, who was unable to attend because of her conflicting participation in the Edwardsville Homecoming, had sent cards to Robbie O'Bear, Jason Millsap and the chapter. Robbie O'Bear presented Jason Millsap with a mascot purchased by Pederson.

Jason Millsap announced the coming events and then called on the newly installed chaplain to give the Nine O'Clock Interpolation. The Job's Daughters from Bethel 43 then Formed the Cross.

The installing team closed the chapter as the master of ceremonies invited everyone to enjoy the food prepared by the Parent's Club and Disc Jockey Paul O'Bear's music for dancing.
